THE POVERTY OF JAPAN IS SHOWN

FRENCH FINANCIERS PROVE THE
ROSE-COLORED DECLARATIONS UNTRUE

Crisis Was a Year Ago, and Failure of the Bank of Futumata Was Followed by Crashes All Over the Mikado's Kingdom.

PARIS, April 25.—The lamentable financial condition of Japan has hitherto been successfully concealed. The English telegraphic agencies have been sending out rosy reports and declarations of Japanese diplomats and financiers destined to reassure public opinion; and up to the present the poverty of the people, the failure of banks, the emptiness of the state treasury have not been known in Europe.

An investigation undertaken by the French capitalists has resulted in astounding disclosures. The Japanese financial crisis dates from the failure of the Bank of Futumata, in the province of Enshu, a year ago. This was followed by a run on the Asakusa Ginko, a bank of Tokio. Then week by week the banks went under in every part of the country.

It is noticeable that with increasing financial disaster the bellicose clamor died out in Japan.

Among the banks which suspended payment was the Kyoritsu Ginko of the Island of Kyushu, which had large interests in the coal regions. Millions of yen were lost in the failure. A few weeks later a panic swept away the Kokura branch of the Oguri Ginko. The home bank itself shut its doors. This institution, one of the most important in Japan, had been established in 1898 by Oguri Tomijiro, a millionaire of the town of Nagoya, in conjunction with Baron Goto, the former civil governor of Formosa. It held the salt monopoly of Formosa on a lease of twenty years. This failure entailed that of the Kametaki Ginko, which had branches in all the leading towns of Japan, and five other financial institutions of importance.

From one end of the country to the other the story of disaster runs—broken banks, mobs clamoring at the doors of penniless institutions, riots, starvation and despair.

Late in November the government intervened. The intervention was due to the failure of the two leading banks—one in Tokio and the other in Fukuoka, an important manufacturing center. The first of these banks, the Tokyo Shoko Ginko, closed its doors November 20; six days later the Dai Ku jin Ginko failed—its $100 shares had fallen to $6. The Yagi Ginko of the town of Yagi, in the district of Tokachi, suspended payment January 7, 1908, but the Government and the Nippon Ginko—that is, the Bank of Japan—managed to put it on its feet for the time being.

The succeeding week, January 13, there was a run on the Kamawagari Bank of Kambe, in the prefecture of Mie. February 2 a mob of depositors raided the branch bank of Awatate. The list is incomplete. The important Bank of Hachioji went down February 3, after an honorable career of over forty years. Toward the end of February the Katsumika Ginko of Tokio shut its doors for ten days.

These facts have just been made known to French financiers. They have created much comment at the Bourse. And they have made it utterly impossible for Japan to get money in France.

That languid, lifeless feeling that comes with spring and early summer, can be quickly changed to a feeling of buoyancy and energy by the judicious use of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The Restorative is a genuine tonic to tired, rundown nerves, and but a few doses is needed to satisfy the user that Dr. Shoop's Restorative is actually reaching that tired spot. The indoor life of winter nearly always leads to sluggish bowels, and to sluggish circulation in general. The customary lack of exercise and outdoor air ties up the liver, stagnates the kidneys, and oftentimes weakens the heart's action. Use Dr. Shoop's Restorative a few weeks and all will be changed. A few days test will tell you that you are using the right remedy. You will easily and surely note the change from day to day. Sold by Palace and Globe Pharmacies.

BURGLAR RETURNS MONEY

Writes That He Is Better Off than When He Robbed Store

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 25.—A year ago the store of A. T. Strangeway at Bovina Center, near here, was robbed, but the burglar got only a small amount of money. All efforts to capture them were fruitless. Miss Elizabeth Strangeway, a daughter of the proprietor, has received a letter containing $25, which, the writer says, he borrowed from the store a year ago. He says he is in much better circumstances now and expresses his heartfelt thanks for the use of the money.

Mrs. French Entertains.

Mrs. George K. French entertained at her home on Oak street Friday afternoon from 1 o'clock to 6 in one of the most elaborate luncheons given this season, announcing the betrothal of Miss Laura Short to William Cox. The handsome home of the hostess was prettily decorated in pink and green and the charming effect was heightened by profuse use of sweet peas, roses and honeysuckles suspended from the illuminated chandeliers and elsewhere in large wreaths and bouquets.

Mrs. French was pleasantly assisted in receiving by Mrs. E. T. Satchell. The parties in whose honor the function was given are among the best known and most popular of Globe's smart set. Miss Short is a favorite with all. Mr. Cox is a young man of sterling business qualities, now engaged in a responsible position with the Old Dominion Mining company.

Those present were: Mesdames C. T. Sturgeon, A. G. Smith, Judge Nave, M. E. McCarthy, Ed. Barrett, C. L. Rawlins, F. L. Toombs, Roland Jacobs and Ed. Barker, E. M. Hurd, W. S. Dayton, Misses Lowthian and Sparks.

STOCKS TOUGH HIGH POINTS FOR PRESENT YEAR

Union Pacific Shoots Skyward;
Little Change in the Metal Markets.

NEW YORK, April 25.—There were considerable additions to the week's rise in prices of stocks in today's market. The advance was somewhat uneven, the market lacking breadth. Union Pacific, a prominent example, rose to a price higher than had been touched since early in August last year. Other stocks touched high points for the present year. St. Paul and the Hill stocks showed closest sympathy with the movement of the Union Pacific. Profit taking was freely pursued and this induced an uneven, and at times irregular, movement in prices. Bonds were firm.

Steel ruled a small fraction below the closing price of yesterday throughout the day. The market closed under the influence of profit-taking.

An Ancient Saw

"Raw pullet, raw veal and raw fish make the graveyard fat. This is hundreds of years old. A New York enterer (perhaps the most efficient in the city) said to me: 'There are three important articles of food that must, under no circumstances, be served undressed. They are fish, chicken and veal. By chicken I mean all poultry of a domestic nature. All game birds should be rare. You want to be a little careful about lamb, too; give it plenty of cooking.'—New York Press.

Big Reptiles in Planet Venus

In Venus there are lizards and things. Thus opines Sir Oliver Lodge. If Venus is inhabited at all he believes that it is probably at the stage of the earth during what the learned call the carboniferous age, when the atmosphere was full of steam and clouds, and great fern trees grew. It is quite unlikely that anything like human beings are living there. In Mars it might be different. The day is nearly as long as ours. There is land and at the poles there is snow and it has winter and summer like ours. Next August Mars will be easy to study and all the great telescopes of the world then will be directed toward that planet and its two moons.—Chicago Tribune.
